

International Studies Institute 2021-2022 LGBTQ and/or Homelessness Research Scholarship

The International Studies Institute (ISI) in partnership with the Women, Gender & Sexuality Studies program, the Feminist Research Institute, and the Women's Resource Center announce a scholarship opportunity for research projects related to an undergraduate Honors thesis or Capstone course at UNM. The scholarship will award $100 per scholarship winner. We anticipate that this scholarship will be available every semester in perpetuity, so you can plan ahead as well.

Eligible applicants must be undergraduate students at UNM who are working on an Honors thesis or a Capstone course research project that deals with LGBTQ and/or homelessness issues. Preference will be given to students working on both issues and/or on the issues within an international context.

Application Checklist:

- Cover sheet with your name, address, phone number, e-mail address, intended semester and year of graduation, names and e-mail addresses of your two recommenders;
- 250-word narrative describing your project and how you expect to benefit from it in terms of your education and future career plans;;
- Your current unofficial UNM transcript;
- Two letters of recommendation, one from a UNM faculty member (Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor; Lecturer I, II, or III; or a TA teaching a lower division language class), to be submitted by your recommenders as an e-mail attachment (.doc, .docx, or .pdf format) to the address below.

Application must be submitted electronically to isi@unm.edu. (.doc, .docx, or .pdf file format; file name must include your full name)

Questions? Send an email to isi@unm.edu or call 277-1991.

Due to the disruption caused by the pandemic, applications will be considered on a rolling basis until November 24th at 3pm. We will relaunch the call in February.
